FOUR MILLIONS A MONTH SPENT ON C. N. R.

During those seasons in all new countries when development halts because of a material shrinkage in the flow of investment gold, there falls, of necessity on concerns of national importance and upon the federal and provincial administrations, the obligation to continue energetically building operations of all kinds, in order that the credit so essential to the well-being of all lands in a constructive stage, may be maintained.

When war and rumors of war in Europe last spring began to have their inevitable effect on Canada in the shape of curtailment of funds for expansion, it became the duty of our big transportation companies to announce that there was to be no cessation of activity in building, and to put those statements into practical effect. It behoved the government at Ottawa also, to increase the expenditure of the country, if necessary, but at least to continue the erection of government offices, and the construction of public works, to keep labor employed and money in circulation. Every one will recall the statements made almost immediately by the executive heads of the railway companies and the importance with which they were regarded. The federal announcements are not ended yet, and only the other day we read the stories of the letting of contracts for the new Welland canal, the construction of a national harbor at Toronto, the deepening of the St. Lawrence waterways and the preparations made for the new waterway at Sault Ste. Marie. It is interesting to note, now, in a statement made by Sir William Mackenzie for the C. N. R., how well one of the three big railway companies has carried out its program.

"Since the beginning of the season," said Sir William, "we have spent an average of $4,000,000 a month. We have built, in main lines and branches, up to the first of September, a little more than 840 miles. By the end of the season we will have added between 1,000 and 1,100 miles to the trackage in the Dominion. We will have completed by then the laying of track on the line between Port Arthur and Sudbury, which will connect our western and eastern systems and give the country another transcontinental line between east and west. By the end of the year there will be finished between Edmonton and the Pacific Coast. We have had upwards of 25,000 men employed on our construction works and at times were held up by shortage of labor.

"(Since the first of the year, according to figures just received from Ottawa, thousands of home-steads have been taken up along the lines of the Canadian Northern Railway, or in the territory that is tributary to it. This again will entail the building of new lines, because, of course, the crying needs of these settlers will be transportation. Branches of that sort always have to be built before there is any appreciable revenue to pay for their operation and become a charge upon the rest of the system. Later on they will no doubt be lucrative because of the excellence of the territory selected, but the obligation to build is on our shoulders. If other lines of this kind had not been built, and if these are not, the older settled cities and towns suffer, for it is the farmers in this country that make the wheels of our industries turn and keeps the commercial institutions in a flourishing condition."

In Canada we have become so accustomed to regard our development as the greatest in modern times, that big announcements like that by Sir William are taken very largely as a matter of course. Few people take the time to analyse the statement, and so, find out its relation to the progress of the country. The Canadian Northern have had 25,000 men engaged upon construction this year. If that army were strung out in single line it would be possible to place one man every 200 yards, or thereabouts, from Montreal to Vancouver. Sir William Mackenzie says that by the end of the year the trackage of the Canadian Northern will have been increased by from 1,000 to 1,100 miles. That would mean, averaged, about three miles for every day in the year, Sunday included. Surely that comprises a record likely to stand for some time to come. There never will be again years like 1913 and 1914, as far as railway building is concerned, for the liveliest imagination can hardly conceive of two more transcontinentals being rushed to completion at the same time. Look at it another way. It would not be out of the way to compare the cost of one mile of railway main line with that of constructing an average factory. If the Canadian Northern railway then increase the trackage of this country by 1,000 miles this year it might be fairly computed that the company have added to the business life of Canada the equivalent of 1,000 factories. If the number of men required to maintain that mileage and operate it be taken into consideration, in comparison with the forces of a like number of factories, the analogy becomes even more complete. Railway men are invariably well paid, and their combined wages would probably be larger than those of the employees of 1,000 average factories. This gives some idea of what lay behind the statement by the C. N. R.'s president. The other effects would take too long to enumerate because they would comprise a great part of the national activities. Let us visualize one.

A railway starts to construct a branch into a territory hitherto lacking the blessing of transportation and all that it entails. Likely enough a considerable number of settlers have gone in ahead, anticipating the following of the steel. What happens as the line progresses? Every five miles or so a station and its sidings are built. Around that station the nucleus of a new town rises as if by magic. The hotel, the general store, the post office, the bank and the houses that go to make up a new trading centre are constructed. The settler has a new and convenient place to buy his supplies and market his products. Settlement increases. Soon the little spot on the map has its duplicate stores, its hotels and its elevators, and, mayhap, its banks and become known to a wider world. The passenger train stops and the drummer and visitor alight. And—but what's the use of continuing. Everybody knows the story of the growth of new towns. But how many persons in Canada have stopped to estimate the number of towns the railways have placed upon the map of this Dominion, or how much of the prosperity in all Canada is due to the enterprise of the transportation company. Put a sufficient number of farmers in one locality and a trading centre can live; that trading centre swells the business of the manufacturer and the wholesaler, eliminates the settlement, or in other words, leave the railway out of it, and there will be no settlement, no trading centre, no increase in business, and no addition to prosperity.

In Canada, as often remarked by visitors from other lands, we have a splendid network of railway lines. It is being maintained on a population less than one-tenth of the Republic to the south. It is true that in inducing settlement along its own lines, each road is building for future greatness. But it would be a sorry tale if by any misfortune the expansion of our railways into new, virgin territories should be checked. Let us hope that the immense future holds nothing in store of such calamitous character.

LAKELAND, Ont., May 18th, 1911
"Kindly publish this letter of mine if you think it will benefit other women who might be afflicted with the disease I have had in the past, but am now, thanks to 'Fruit-a-lives', completely cured of. It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-lives' if she is constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Neuralgia' or 'Nervousness'. This Nervousness is brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking doctors' medicine without any permanent relief. Constipation was a source of great trouble to me, for which the Doctors said 'I would have to take medicine all my life', but 'Fruit-a-lives' banished all these troubles and now I am a well woman!"

THE COMMOTING OF GIBSON'S SENTENCE

The handling of the case of the young man Gibson, who has been under sentence of death in Toronto, doesn't look right. If there were good reason for interfering with the sentence these should have been quite clear to the Ottawa authorities before the date that was set originally for his execution. As it was, he was reprieved for a month, in order that the case might be further considered, and then it was announced that the law would take its course.

Following this, monster petitions were presented from Toronto asking for clemency. Those who have had much experience with similar situations know how much these are worth. Many people put their names on petitions simply to avoid being described by their neighbors as hard-hearted monsters; some simply to avoid an argument with the man or woman who requests them to sign. When the prisoner has some attractive personal qualities or has relatives who are at all prominent, it is the easiest thing in the world to work up public feeling in his behalf. But those who have the power of life and death in the matter should be above the influence of such popular demonstrations. To yield to them is to bring the whole administration of justice into disrepute.

Public Works Must be Paid for With Votes!

So Says Hon. Charles W. Mitchell, Sifton's Minister of Public Works.

Before last election Hon. C. W. Mitchell promised the electors of Medicine Hat that a court house would be built in that city. In fact the building was started. It will be remembered that the Hon. Mr. Mitchell got elected to the House at the last election, and that fact has changed the whole business. Medicine Hat will have no court house, and Hon. Mr. Mitchell, on the floor of the House gives the reason. We take his remarks from the report of the proceedings of the Legislature in Monday's Edmonton Bulletin as follows: Hon. C. W. Mitchell stated in the House that last March a sum of money was voted for a court house at Medicine Hat and he was, therefore, warranted in making the statement that the court house would be built. The vote for the building had now lapsed. As long as he was minister for Medicine Hat he intended to press for that building. "My obligations for doing anything for Medicine Hat," added Mr. Mitchell, "are now extinguished. Unless I desire to do so, I am absolved from doing anything for Medicine Hat. There is no obligation on me now."

In the course of further discussion the Minister of Public Works stated that he told the people of Medicine Hat that money had been voted for a new telephone exchange and also for a new court house at Medicine Hat, and that that was the government's policy for Medicine Hat. If the people of Medicine Hat saw fit to turn down that policy by voting against him, it was no concern of his at the present time. There might have been some obligation on him to press for the construction of those buildings prior to the election and there would have been if he had been returned.

The Western Globe has always considered that Hon. Mr. Mitchell was one of the members of the Sifton Cabinet, above all others, who was above the tactics of petty grafting, but his action and remarks prove that he is just a cheap, garden variety of a politician.

A man who will insist that public works be paid for in votes is not a safe man for any government. Medicine Hat evidently knew his calibre and turned him down.

"David Harum"

An attraction bearing the Metropolitan label which will be seen at the Comet Theatre, one night only, Monday, Oct. 27, is Geo. B. Howard's scenic production of "David Harum," dramatized from the popular novel of the same name, by Edward Noyes Westcott, which will be presented at the popular play house. "David Harum," as a book was a popular story on sale for over four years. As a play it is said to be even wider in its appeal. The production that will be seen here is elaborate in scenic splendor, and contains all the natural simplicity which made the book story unusually interesting. The company supporting Mr. Howard has been selected with great care—in fact a number of the original cast have been secured, which fact alone should convince even the most skeptical that they have a truly rare treat in store for them on Monday evening. All in all, "David Harum" should be sufficient in appeal to pack the Comet Theatre to the doors. Seat sale opens Monday at 10 a. m., at theatre.

FOREIGN EXPERT DECLARES BRITISH ARMY IS LA-MENTABLE INEFFICIENT.

London, Oct. 13.—Opinions of the foreign military attaches on the British army manoeuvres just ended differ widely from the stores printed in the English papers. From reading the London papers one would imagine the British army in the recent exercise placed the word in military efficiency. The exercises, according to announcements, were intended especially to give training in field transport problems and feeding large bodies of men while actively engaged in war operations requiring long marches and quick changes of place.

The London papers informed the English people that the manoeuvres demonstrated particularly high efficiency in this branch in the art of war, but the foreign attaches say just the opposite, and the Turkish attaché made a particularly frank statement in his report to his government. He said the manoeuvres demonstrated an almost complete fiasco on the part of the British army and entire inability to cope with transport problems. According to his report, it very soon developed that few if any officers from highest to lowest were capable of fulfilling their duties. This state of affairs was soon so plainly evident to the authorities that after the first day or two of operations every endeavor was made to keep the foreign attaches as far as possible from the scene of the operations so that they could not see the lamentable inefficiency. The report says the officers took the manoeuvres as a huge picnic.

The report states that while the officers were fed bountifully, and enjoyed the picnic to the utmost, the men in the ranks worked hard constantly and starved because of transport trains carrying food supplies for them being constantly lost in the maze of cross roads. When the manoeuvres came to the end the whereabouts of some trains were still unknown. The same fate attended several regiments supposed to take part in batteries. Many of them were lost and never reported at the scene of the fighting, while others got into the "enemy's" country and were captured.

Distressing Accident

While out shooting on Thanksgiving morning, R. B. Hill, of the Lacombe Drug Store, had the misfortune to get bit in the right eye by a pellet of shot. The shot penetrated the eyeball and the pupil. Dr. Hynes was called immediately, and on examination decided the services of an eye expert were necessary, and sent the injured man to Edmonton on the noon train, where Dr. Allen is attending him.

Later reports from Edmonton are to the effect that the injured eye has been removed.

Young Thresher Has A mBad y Ma gled

Red Deer, Oct. 20.—Harold Braithwaite, of Waakooto, near Red Deer, met with a painful accident while threshing, and as a result it was necessary to amputate his right arm. He had mounted the boiler to oil the links and pillow boxes, and in stepping back over the line shaft of the engine, the bottom of his overalls caught on a set screw, which tore every bit of clothing from his body except one piece of undershirt.

In falling he caught hold of the throttle rod with his left hand, his right hand and arm being caught between the boiler and his naked legs getting badly burned as well. The engine was stopped and reversed, but it was some time before he could be dragged clear, owing to a part of the mechanism being bent and not working right. He was brought to the Red Deer hospital, where all efforts were made to try and save his arm, but his condition was so serious that it was found necessary to amputate it. Mr. Braithwaite's car, has had considerable trouble recently in the loss of his wife and another son, who was run over and killed in England.

ed." The report sums up the manoeuvres by saying they were a "diabolical feature and a humiliating spectacle of military inefficiency."

While the Turkish attaché was making this report the British army, another military expert made most interesting comments on the German and British navies. This critic is an admiral in a foreign service, not Germany. He gives the opinion that in the event of war between Germany and England the latter country would be practically wiped off the map in a short time and this without the necessity of Germany landing a single soldier on English territory.

The British fleet, he said, is of necessity scattered all over the world and British warships are at a built with a view to a wide steaming radius, which means being constantly going back and forth between home ports and the weight to boiler space, and fleets at sea.

On the other hand the German fleet has been built, with practically one object in view, war with England, and has been built for operation in home waters, which means a small steaming radius.

Germany has to protect the North Sea and the Baltic. She has connected the two by the Kiel canal, by which her ships can be speedily concentrated at any point.

For practical purposes Germany's ships concentrated in one fleet by virtue of the Kiel canal can watch the North Sea and the Baltic. England, on the other hand, in a war with Germany, must support at least three fleets—one for the North Sea, one for the Baltic and a third as a relieving squadron which must be constantly going back and forth between home ports and the fleets at sea.

Bentley Celebrates Start on Electric With Banquet

The Residents of Blindman Valley Guests of Promoters of Electric Railway.

The Thanksgiving banquet held under the auspices of the Lacombe and Blindman Valley Electric Railway Co. at the McPherson Hall last evening was the largest gathering of its kind ever held in this prosperous little hamlet. In the evening the crowd started to assemble in the large hall, where tables had been erected to the entire capacity and plates laid for one hundred and eighteen people, and these proved insufficient, as some with invitations in their hands were unable to crowd into the already filled hall. The banquet was opened at 7.30 with the invocation by the Rev. Winfield. This was followed by the bountiful repast prepared for the occasion. After the many guests had taken their fill, C. A. Putland, toastmaster, opened the toast program by a toast to "The King." Senator Talbot then called upon to respond to "The Senate" and House of Commons." Then followed "The Provincial Legislature," by the Hon. W. F. Puffer, Peter Gunne, F. Whiteside, Mr. McCall and Mr. Leffingwell, all members of the present House of the Provincial Legislature. The next toast, "The Lacombe and Blindman Valley Electric Railway," was responded to by Messrs. J. C. Gibbons, A. M. Macdonald, Thos. Hopkins, J. H. Morrison and J. H. Dameron responded to "Agriculture." "The Town of Bentley" was then upheld by Messrs. H. A. Brownlow, C. F. Dameron and H. Thorp. Mr. Dameron reciting one of his own little poems on Bentley, Past and Present. "Sister Towns" was toasted to by D. C. Gourlay, W. Brooks and D. B. Pincus. "The Press" was responded to by Mr. Wilson, manager of the Daily Herald and F. H. Schooley, of the Lacombe Guardian." And last, but not least, "The Ladies," and better champions of said toast could not be had than Mrs. Iddings and Harry Ireland. As it was well on to midnight, "Auld Lang Syne" was sung and cheers were given for "The Lacombe and Blindman Valley Railway and "Bill Puffer," the company dispersed, taking with them pleasant memories of a happy evening spent at Bentley.

SOME AMENDMENTS TO THE GAME ACT.

The Game Act amendments in addition to the lengthening of the season for chicken and the shortening of the duck season by one week, and this in the face of Hungarian partridge that may be killed, by limiting the daily bag to twenty-five. The sale or exchange of birds mentioned in this sub-section is also prohibited.

The act is to be amended to cover the development of the fur-raising industry. Power is given to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to make regulations regarding the buying, selling or exporting of big game, game birds, and fur-bearing animals reared on game or fur farms. Owners of fur farms are to be protected from intrusion, and a clause is being added to the Game Act which states that "any person found within an enclosure of any kind contrary to any warning notice, surrounding a game or fur farm shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine of not less than $50 or more than $200 and costs."

Additional powers are given to game guardians, and it will be provided that if a game guardian has sufficient ground to believe that there is any game killed contrary to the provisions of the act concealed therein, he may search without warrant any vehicle, boat, tent, or may, on obtaining a search warrant, search any building where he believes any game in connection with

Ponoka News

After a long and trying illness of some two years' duration, borne with Christian fortitude, the call came to W. H. Cook on Sunday, October 12.
John Hageman had great success with his stock at the Leduc fair on the 7th. His wins were 1 special, 15 first and 4 second prizes, for horses, cattle and sheep. In prize money he took nearly $150.
G. F. Root was in Edmonton this week arranging to build a railway through Water Glen and Asker. The contract calls for two streams of rust, poplar ties, and prairie land for ballast. He will own the townships, and the bonus will be just the ordinary $20,000 a mile. Sir George is some charitable railroad builder.
A meeting of the Agricultural Society was held in the secretary's office on Saturday afternoon, the attendance being large. The meeting was called to order to consider the society's standing in the recent fair, and to receive the secretary's report. The affairs were considered satisfactory, and the secretary instructed to pay the prize money. On account of having to borrow a large sum from the bank, and pay interest, until such time as the government grant would be forthcoming, it was unanimously agreed to take 10 per cent. off all stock prizes, and to pay the rest in full. The directors felt satisfied that this would meet the approval of all interested.

Alix News
The Fall pony race meet on Saturday was well attended both by participants and spectators, and the various events were enjoyed by all.
A meeting of the Agricultural Society was held on Monday of this week, when the business was closed up for the year. In every way the fair was a success this year, and the society have a nice balance after paying all accounts.
The entire community was saddened when the report was circulated on Friday morning of last week that Mrs. Wm. Shular had passed to the great beyond. Deceased had been ill but a short time and her sudden taking away came as a shock to all who knew her. Besides a sorrowing husband, she leaves a family of nine children, the youngest a baby of six days. The funeral took place on Saturday.
A shooting accident occurred at Fountaintown on Saturday last when Mr. Moorhouse was shot in the foot. He had been out driving and on arriving home his little son jumped into the rig, kicking the gun, the trigger of which was cocked, and the bullet entered Mr. Moorhouse's foot. He went to Lacombe on Monday where the X-ray was used to locate the charge. At time of going to press the foot is improving nicely, but will be rather sore for some time.
Mr. W. A. Marlatt, representing a creamery company of Minneapolis, has been in town the past week seeking to interest townspeople and farmers in a creamery proposition, and up to going to press he informs us that his scheme is meeting with fair success. Briefly the main points are as follows:—The company, on a guarantee of 300 cows propose to erect a building and fit it up with the most modern machinery, and after passing examination by the Alberta Dairy Commissioner, turn it over to the stockholders. The company demand that 30 shares be sold at $200, making a total of $6,000, each shareholder to own a purchase, but one share. At present he has almost the requisite amount signed, and is anxious to complete the deal as soon as possible. The shares are payable, $100 on completion of the installation of machinery, balance one year from this fall. The only advance to be made by the shareholders is a site and water. The company guarantee to have things in shape for the putting up of ice this winter and the creamery in running order next spring.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by Lacombe Drug Co., Ltd. (4)

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY IN CANADA.
Like many other good things, rural mail delivery in Canada took a little time to introduce, but now that the advantages are being demonstrated, the demand is very rapidly increasing. Two years ago this month the number of rural mail delivery routes totaled 614, but the rate of increase since that time has been so rapid that in September, 1913, there were 1,676 routes being operated with over 500 more in process of organization. These 1,676 routes run past and serve no fewer than 90,000 farm houses. On several occasions in the past we have advised our readers to acquaint themselves with the offer of the Post Office Department in the matter of rural mail delivery, and we do not hesitate to again suggest that many others who have not yet availed themselves of the advantages held out should write the Department at Ottawa and ascertain the terms upon which rural mail delivery is open to the farmers of Canada.

If you have young children you have perhaps noticed that disorders of the stomach are their most common ailment. To correct this you will find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets excellent. They are easy and pleasant to take, and mild and gentle in effect. For sale by Lacombe Drug Co., Ltd. (6)

SULZER LOST; WILL NOW BE REMOVED.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Governor William Sulzer was today found guilty by the high court of impeachment on three of the articles preferred against him. They were 1, 2 and 4. He was declared innocent of the charges contained in article 3.
Tomorrow he will be removed from office, but not disqualified from holding office in this state in the future, unless there is a substantial change in the informal vote reported to have been taken today.
For the same reason it is expected that he will be found not guilty on the other four articles still remaining to be voted upon when the court adjourns tonight. Lieutenant-Governor Martin H. Glynn, who has been acting governor since the impeachment of Sulzer, will become chief executive of the state. He is an Albany newspaper owner Robert F. Wagner, a New York Attorney, will become lieutenant governor. He is the majority leader in the senate.

Killed by a Train

The mangled body of a man was found at the north switch in the railway yards at Innisfail on Friday morning. The engineer of the southbound way freight noticed something lying between the rails and notified the section foreman that a buffalo robe or something of that nature was on the track. On investigation the section men found the object to be the body of a man.
Coroner Allan and the police were notified at once and went to the scene of the accident.
They found portions of the body scattered over more than two hundred yards of track, scarcely recognizable. A foot torn off the body was later found at Wetaskiwin. However, by a notebook found in a pocket and by other articles, the body was identified as the remains of John Calder, a half-breed living near Red Deer. The coroner did not consider an inquest necessary and had the remains removed to McArthur's undertaking establishment.
Deceased had been around town during the evening, and shortly before the accident had been at the power house warming himself. He apparently tried to catch fast freight No. 67, which goes through here about 5.30 a.m., and in some manner missed his footing and was thrown beneath the wheels. He appeared to be about 30 years of age and was married.
The funeral took place to Innisfail cemetery on Saturday, Rev. Father Ancieux conducting the services.

Found Dead on Road to Sylvan Lake

Red Deer, Oct. 15.—As L. Austin was driving home along the Sylvan Lake road, on Saturday night last, his horse shied badly at something lying in the road. He pulled up and got out of his rig to find out what the object was, and to his surprise he discovered it to be the body of a man named Isaac Louma, who had evidently fallen from a vehicle and lay in a position which led him to believe that he was dead. Mr. Austin then drove to the nearest farm house and sent some of the inmates to the body while he drove on to Sylvan Lake and then phoned the coroner, Dr. George, at Red Deer, of his discovery. Dr. George immediately notified the R.N.W.M.P. officer and drove out to make the necessary enquiries. He found that it was unnecessary to hold an inquest, as there was lots of evidence that pointed to the fact of the man having fallen out of his rig while in a drunken sleep, and breaking his neck in the fall. Several people had passed the body earlier in the evening and noticed his condition with a bottle of liquor nearby. The team the deceased was driving had gone on their way through Sylvan Lake, and were walking home when seen and took charge of it by a neighbor. None of the goods were missing from the rig, showing that the team had not run away. Dr. George and the mounted policeman took the deceased home, near Ekville. He was about fifty-eight years of age, and leaves a widow.

HALKIRK FATHER'S INHUMAN TREATMENT

It was a sad, and story of ago. During their three years residence in the Halkirk district, the same story of neglect was recorded, and also that the children, the youngest of whom is a little girl of five years, were accustomed to visit the neighbors, and when partaking of a meal would be compelled to leave the table early, and years of neglect to vomit, and return for more food, owing to the fact that they had been so long without.

The case is so full of human interest and so replete with tragedy, cruelty and years of neglect to vomit, and return for more food, owing to the fact that they had been so long without.

The star witness was Lillian Margaret who, on account of years of suffering and privation, was so overcome when called to the witness stand on Thursday evening, that she collapsed and had to be taken to the apartments of Constable Mayberry, and her evidence reserved for the following morning. Even then, so repugnant was the presence of the father to the poor girl, that it was only by seating the child with her back to the brutal parent that the court was enabled to proceed with her evidence.

A brief summary of the evidence as given by his daughter, and corroborated by Messdames Richardson, Steiner and Hood, Thomas Burns stepped round on his tiptoes among the sleeping children, and with a candle or seven miles south of Halkirk, lamp in his hand critically observed each sleeping form. The whole of the children were peacefully sleeping with the exception of Lillian. Burns then laid down on the bed and read for a while. He then threw down the book and proceeded to a second investigation in the same manner.

Quietly as before, he next proceeded to cover up the windows. Lillian anxiously watching his movements. A terrible fear then entered her mind, and her father had frequently threatened to murder them, and his strange movements suggested to her mind

During their three years residence in the Halkirk district, the same story of neglect was recorded, and also that the children, the youngest of whom is a little girl of five years, were accustomed to visit the neighbors, and when partaking of a meal would be compelled to leave the table early, and years of neglect to vomit, and return for more food, owing to the fact that they had been so long without.

According to the evidence of the two older boys, Geo. Michael, aged thirteen, and William Ray, aged nine, all they had to eat was bread, tea and potatoes. Occasionally they had eggs, supplied by a number of hens which had been given the children by the neighbors. But when Burns returned on Saturdays he brought no provisions with him, and not only took what food there was in the house, but also ate up whatever supply of eggs there happened to be on hand.

The commencement of the last chapter in this terrible story was brought about in July last, when, in the middle of the night, Lillian ran away from home and found shelter in the home of Mrs. Steiner, where she is now residing, and absolutely refused to return, threatening to sleep out on the open prairie rather than be compelled to do so.

The story she related, which resulted in such drastic measures, was the saddest feature of the trial. It appears that after all the children were safely in bed, Thomas Burns stepped round on his tiptoes among the sleeping children, and with a candle or seven miles south of Halkirk, lamp in his hand critically observed each sleeping form. The whole of the children were peacefully sleeping with the exception of Lillian. Burns then laid down on the bed and read for a while. He then threw down the book and proceeded to a second investigation in the same manner.

Quietly as before, he next proceeded to cover up the windows. Lillian anxiously watching his movements. A terrible fear then entered her mind, and her father had frequently threatened to murder them, and his strange movements suggested to her mind that it was his thought to do so that evening. She immediately arose from the bed and hastily dressing made her way in the middle of the night to Mrs. Steiner's as above indicated, the rest of the family following the next day.

After a short consultation the magistrate committed Burns to a month's imprisonment at Fort Saskatchewan and fined him $50 and costs, or in default, another month's imprisonment. A note was added to the commitment requesting the prison authorities to observe Burns' movements as to his sanity.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brown, of Wilson, Pa., who says "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For group there is nothing but the best. For sale by Lacombe Drug Co., Ltd."

GRAIN YIELDS

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—A bulletin issued today by the Census and Statistics Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce, gives a provisional estimate of the yield of the principal grain crops and also the average quality of these crops at harvest time.

During the month ended September 30, ideal weather for the gathering of the grain crop prevailed all over Canada. In the greater part of Ontario and in the Western provinces, harvesting operations were well completed by the middle of September, and only in parts of Quebec and the Maritime provinces, where the spring opens later, was harvesting carried on during the latter end of the month.

The estimates given a month ago are slightly greater than those now issued, which may be presumed to be based more or less on results of threshing. The final estimates based altogether on threshing results and calculated on corrected areas will be issued as usual on December 15. For spring wheat the estimate for the end of September is 188,468,000 bushels, as compared with 182,840,000 bushels last year. For fall wheat the estimate is 13,107,000 bushels, as compared with 10,306,000 bushels last year, and an increase of 8,339,000 bushels, or 41 per cent. The yield per acre for fall wheat is 21.15 bushels, as compared with 20.42 bushels last year. Oats shows a total yield of 391,418,000 bushels, and an average yield of 40.57 bushels, as compared with 361,733,000 bushels, and an average yield of 39.25 bushels. Barley gives an estimated total yield of 44,348,000 bushels, and an average of 31.00 bushels per acre, as compared with 44,014,000 bushels, and an average of 31.10 bushels in 1912. For this year the total production of rye is 2,559,000 bushels of peas, 3,974,000 bushels; of buckwheat, 7,600,000 bushels; of flax, 14,912,000 bushels; of mixed grains, 17,178,000 bushels; of corn for husking, 14,086,000 bushels; of beans, 989,500 bushels, as compared with a total yield last year of 2,504,000 bushels; for peas, 3,773,500 bushels; for buckwheat, 10,183,000 bushels; for flax, 21,681,500 bushels; for mixed grains, 17,952,000 bushels; for corn for husking, 16,569,800 bushels; for beans, 1,040,800 bushels.

For the three Northwest provinces the total yield of spring wheat is estimated at 230,595,000 bushels; of fall wheat, 5,264,000 bushels; of oats, 229,505,000 bushels; of barley, 27,804,000 bushels; of rye, 886,000 bushels; of flax, 14,808,000 bushels.

The average quality of these crops, measured on a per cent basis of 100 as representing grain well headed, well filled, well saved and uninfected to any appreciable extent by frost, rust, smut, etc., is as follows:—Spring wheat, 89.17; oats, 90.82; barley, 88.26; rye, 86.41; peas, 81.71; beans, 78.48; buckwheat, 73.40; mixed grains, 90.59; flax, 82.68; corn for husking, 75.16. Of these, wheat, oats, barley and rye are above the average quality for either of the last two years.

The potato and root crops continue to show good figures, as representing average condition during growth. The condition of potatoes is 83.59; turnips, 82.62; mangolds, 83.64; sugar beets, 82.63.

Warning Issued to School Teachers

A bulletin has been issued to school teachers, urging the exercise of the greatest care to prevent the transmission of communicable diseases from one child to another. The bulletin reads: "Knowing that, probably all communicable diseases attack children of school age, in fact the large majority of cases are found among school children, it is commonly believed that the majority of children are infected in schools and that in many of our schools which are very much over-crowded, the conditions are ideal for the transmission of communicable diseases."

"Ventilation in many cases is insufficient, the common drinking cup and common towel afford opportunity for the exchange of contagion."

"Bearing in mind the infectious nature of the secretions of the mouth and nose, it becomes at once evident that the common drinking cup, the common towel, the pencil and slate used in common, and everything likely to favor the exchange of these secretions are dangerous and should be discarded."

"1. Teachers should insist that all pupils wash their hands carefully after each use of the toilet."

"2. That when diphtheria or scarlet fever is present in the community, all children with sore throats or running noses or ears should be immediately excluded from school, and no child returning to school after an attack with discharging nose or ear should be allowed to remain."

"3. That when measles is prevalent in the community or when a case is detected, all children showing symptoms of a beginning cold in the head should be immediately excluded from school."

"4. That every child suffering with whooping cough be excluded."

"5. That the use of all articles used in common which are liable to be soiled with secretions of the eyes, nose or mouth should be discontinued."

"6. Spitting on the floor should be forbidden."

"7. Each pupil should be taught to sneeze and cough into his or her handkerchief; to do otherwise is a menace to those in the vicinity."

"8. The use of paper towels should be inaugurated and all roller and other towels forbidden."

may be used. It is a common drinking cup to be used.

"10. Instruct children that sunshine, good food, pure air and cleanliness are the best aids to health and happiness."

"There is a demand at present for efficiency and by doing all in your power to restrict and prevent the spread of communicable diseases among your scholars you will in a large measure add to your efficiency and usefulness."

"A report of any cases of disease made to the health department will receive immediate attention."

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR ELEVATORS.

Edmonton, Oct. 15.—The legislature at the present session will be asked to vote one million dollars for the erection of farmers' elevators in the province, one million dollars for telephone extensions, and one million six hundred thousand dollars for public works. These items make up the proposed loan of $8,000,000, of which Premier Sifton gave notice in the house today. If the motion is reached tomorrow the Premier will move that the house resolve itself into committee to consider the means of raising the loan.

The supplementary estimates which were tabled in the house today by the Premier, amounting to $562,994.84, provision is made for a capital expenditure on the erection of elevators, amounting to $305,000. Other items making up the total supplementary estimates, are as follows: Legislation, $105,000; miscellaneous, $75,000; administration of justice, $19,288.16.

Alberta is the first province in the Dominion of Canada to take up the taxation of unearned increment in respect to increased land values. Premier Sifton today gave notice that he would move a resolution respecting a tax on unearned increment in land values. In the estimated revenue for the year 1914 appears an item of $210,000 from "Taxation of the unearned increment of land"; this is the amount which the province is expected to realize from the first measure of taxation to be applied to this source.

The tax will be on a percentage basis of the increase in the value from the time of the last sale, and will be charged when the sale was registered. The proposal does not cover an annual fee in respect to land increases as in the case in the land tax imposed by the British chancery of the exchequer.

While the amount to be derived from this source at the start is small, it promises to become an important source of revenue in the future. The all important thing to do at the present time, in the opinion of the government, is to establish the principle.

PREMIER SIETON DELIVERS ANNUAL BUDGET SPEECH

Declaring a substantial surplus of receipts over expenditure in the estimates compiled by the treasury department for the year 1914, Premier Sifton, as acting provincial treasurer, yesterday delivered the annual budget speech in the legislature. Illustrating the growth of the Province Premier Sifton stated that in 1902 the estimated expenditure for the two provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta was $637,224; in 1906, the first year of the province's incorporation, the expenditure of Alberta was $1,916,081, while for the year 1914 the estimated revenue, apart altogether from loans, is $5,272,175, and the expenditure on account of revenue $5,164,030, or a surplus of $108,145.

Referring to the items in the estimates, the Premier said $300,000 would be spent this year in connection with the Alberta Co-operative Elevators. Already fifty elevators are in operation and fifty more would be built next year. The erection of these elevators would grow until the farmers of the province had the proper accommodation for the housing and marketing of their grain, without being robbed of the profits that rightfully belonged to them as the reward for their labors.

The government had up to the present expended in connection with the telephones of the province $8,000,000, and provision had been made for an additional $200,000,000 for the same purpose. Notwithstanding the fact that the telephones were mainly built through new and sparsely settled country, the operation of the telephones in the province would this year show a surplus of $100,000, after paying interest on capital and operation and maintenance charges.

It was intended to carry on the same policy of extending this great public utility in future years. Some increase in the rates might be necessary, but the Government would keep them down to the lowest basis consistent with the economic operation of the system.

With regard to railway development the Premier said the construction during the year had not been as extensive as had been hoped; by the end of 1913 his prophecy that 500 miles would be completed would be an accomplished fact. By that time, also, there would be actually completed 2,000 miles of railway built under the guarantee of the province. He believed that it was essential that this assistance should be extended, and extended liberally.

The total estimated receipts for the year 1914 are $9,731,350, as compared with $10,610,884.53, the estimated revenue for the current year. The total estimated expenditure is 18,514,130 for the year 1914, as compared with $9,555,579, the estimated expenditure for the current year.

The amount of the expenditure appears less this year, largely on account of the fact that telephone extensions this year will demand only one million dollars as compared with two millions voted last year, and the fact that interest on the Alberta and Great Waterways bonds, which last year was $371,500, does not appear owing to the settlement with the A. & G. W. company being now before the house. The expenditure in practically all branches of the government shows an increase, the largest increase on account of agriculture.

One of the most noteworthy features in the estimates this year is the amount of $210,000 which the government expects to derive from taxation of unearned increment on land values.

J. McCartney, of London, Ont., is at present in town.

TARIFF REMOVAL FROM CATTLE WILL AFFECT THE WEST.

Since the tariff on Canadian cattle was removed by the United States government, live stock buyers have been carefully watching to see what effect that step would have on the local markets. That buyers across the international line have always had a long eye on the prime beef steers raised in this province is well known, and it was feared they would completely buy up all the best animals. "The American buyers have already invaded the southern parts of the province," is a statement made by Gavin Jack, of Wade, Wilson and Gavin Jack, live stock commission agents in Calgary, who has just returned from an extensive tour along the Canadian side of the international line, north of Montana.

Mr. Jack has been for many years connected with the live stock industry, and knows every prominent live stock buyer personally. He reports that never before on all his journeys through the country has he come across so many buyers from the south, and he considers this a direct result of the passing of the bill States tariff being taken off, but cancelling the duty on our cattle. "They are now buying cattle yet," he said, "they are looking over the possibilities and studying the situation. I understand that many large ranchers will ship their cattle across the line this year, but cannot see how the prices ruling in America can make them any more money compared with the prices being paid in Alberta."

"Canadian packing houses and buyers are paying more in Alberta for prime animals than the American buyers, and what cattle are shipped across the line will not net as much as could be secured here, after paying expenses. Ranchers will also find the Alberta market more available for selling their stock and undoubtedly will make more money here; that is to say, if the Canadian rancher figures the shrinkage, feed, railroad rates and other expenses to Chicago, he will find it is more remunerative to ship to his home market. Cattle can be shipped to the local market on a day's notice, with a full knowledge of what will be realized on them, whereas; by the time the animals would reach Chicago the market conditions might have materially changed."

"Quite a few of the large ranchers talk about higher prices coming on account of the United States tariff being taken off, but I cannot see how that effect can come about. There are more cattle in Alberta today than there ever was, and I can estimate no less than 30,000 of fat cattle for sale this month alone. If prices here were low and were high in Chicago, it might help the local prices, but as they stand now I am sure no change of any kind will result."

"A good example of this is found in the sheep conditions. There are a great many Alberta farmers going across the line buying sheep in Montana and then bringing them into the province. The simple reason is they are paying more than the American dealer, and not only get the numbers they want but the best quality. This shows that the market for sheep is higher here than it is across the line, and the same applies to cattle prices. There is a better demand for young sheep than ever before in Alberta, as ranchers are beginning to realize what amount of profit can be secured from raising and even feeding sheep. There is a steadily increasing demand for young sheep and lambs, as farmers find they are less expensive to feed and turn over. Not only do these animals pay for their feed, but yield a handsome profit."

"Hogs are beginning to come in more freely and the market has weakened slightly on this account. However, I do not think that prices will go much lower, on Saturday."

as the eastern and southern markets are holding up, which will have a steadying effect on prices here. Never before have such numbers of hogs been raised in Alberta, and I consider them just as good as any ever sold on the American markets."

Don't forget to get my prices for meat before buying. I am wholesaling as well as retailing, and farmers and others buying meat in quarters or large pieces and paying cash, can get these wholesale prices.—Thos. Thorp, (022-1c)

Blackfalds News

Mike Madden, the railway contractor, was in town over the week-end.

The anniversary services held last Sunday at the Methodist Church were well attended. Professor Bland presented two able sermons. There was a large turnout to the supper and concert last Friday night. Thanks are due to the ladies and gentlemen from Lacombe and Red Deer who very kindly gave their services in the latter.

Mr. Buckley, brother-in-law of Mr. J. McNicoll, was a visitor to the town last week. Roy Trout has purchased A. Peck's automobile. He intends to put it on the line between the C.P.R. and C.N.R. We congratulate Mr. Trout on his enterprise.

Mr. McTaggart, superintendent of the B. and N. department of the C.P.R., was in town last Monday looking over the false work for the new bridge over the Blindman river.

Miss T. V. Rtan returned from a visit to Edmonton last week. C. Greentree is opening up a boot and shoe and harness shop tomorrow.

Mr. Howells, of Calgary, agent for the Goulay piano and Estey organ, was in town last Friday. The boys are talking of forming a hockey club in the near future.

There have been some very good bags of partridge and chicken made by the local sports lately.
